Caroline's Moment...

by Janice Valentino

Caroline Prieur Schulz-Chechen is a name that I will not too soon forget. Nor will the world, if her husband Najim Chechen has his way, nor the many art students she taught and loved at the High School for Excellence and Innovation.

I came to know of Caroline and Najim this past summer. At the end of May, 2014, Caroline started to receive hospice care at home. It was evident that her moments of life were soon coming to an end. But Caroline and Najim wanted one more extraordinary moment, they had one final wish, one more opportunity to show Caroline's life's work to their many friends, family and those in the art world who loved and knew her well.

With the help of Dawn Ansbro, Executive Director of the Orange County Arts Council, the art show was on its way to becoming a reality. With a short window of time to put together this final request, "Caroline Prieur Schulz-Chechen: A Retrospective" was set to open the weekend of July 4 at the Yellow Bird Gallery in Newburgh. Caroline passed away on June 22, 2014 at the Kaplan Family Hospice Residence 13 days before the opening.

As painful as it was for Najim, he was not going back on his promise to Caroline, and so the 2-day exhibit took place with the help of family, friends, Hospice and the Orange County Arts Council. All who loved Caroline, worked with Caroline, those who knew of her work and those who did not were drawn to the gallery that sits on the waterfront in Newburgh, New York. Over 700 people came that weekend to honor Caroline and to be touched by her work and her spirit.

Educational Influences

"She cared deeply for her students. She instilled in her students that art was not a superficial subject, but a subject of substance."

--Tyona Washington, Principal High School for Excellence and Innovation

"I never met a more beautiful, humble, human being in my life. She was a positive person who told me never to give up on my dreams. Caroline I love you and you will never be forgotten."

This journey was filmed with permission of the family of Caroline Schulz-Chechen by Rissa Grady, daughter of Hospice President and CEO Dan Grady and was submitted to the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization (NHPCO) for consideration to be used in their Moments of Life Campaign. We recently have been notified that this story will be featured in the near future as part of this amazing campaign to help in the education and importance of choices in end-of- life care. <http://www.Momentsoflife.org>

Message from the President

Daniel M. Grady, President and CEO

Last year, at this time, I wrote about how grateful we were for the support and generosity of the community, and how we continue to be inspired by the courage of our patients. This year, especially with all the changes we face in the healthcare world, we would like to express our appreciation for the support of you, the members of our hospice community.

If you receive this newsletter, you are a current, or past supporter, staff member or volunteer of our program. Additionally, some of you have had Hospice provide services to a family member. To better serve our patients and families, we would humbly request that you pass the story of hospice and how you support us to a friend or family member. Without your financial support, all the recent changes in healthcare have made it difficult to continue to provide the high level services we take pride in.

Please enjoy the stories in this newsletter that we are able to share with the permission of those we cared for. Each patient and family is uniquely different and we work diligently to care for each and every one in the ways that best ensure the care, comfort and quality of life they all deserve.

Enclosed you will find an envelope to make it as convenient as possible to support our mission. As the end of 2014 draws near, we ask that you consider making a donation to help us serve the families and patients who need us.

Thank you....

Hospice of Orange and Sullivan Counties is the leading source of information relating to end-of-life and palliative care in the community.

FOCUS on a Hospice Family...

This special story was written in part by Mr. John E. Quinn in 2008. John recently passed away at the Kaplan Family Hospice Residence in July 2014.

This is an excerpt from John's 2008 testimonial letter:

I became involved with Hospice of Orange and Sullivan Counties in May 2008 after my wife Minnie was diagnosed with Stage 4 Cancer in her lung and brain. Previous to receiving hospice care, my wife was in and out of the hospital receiving 16 treatments of radiation for her brain and 1 chemo treatment for her lung. The chemo almost killed her and she was admitted to the hospital again. After a couple of days the hospital gave me 3 hours to take her home as there was nothing more they could do for her.

This was the time I became involved with Hospice Care. I am disabled and really struggled with the thought of having to bring Minnie home to take care of her but Hospice came to our home and set up all that was needed to keep my wife comfortable, including the hospital bed, equipment and medication to manage her pain. We also had the care of a hospice nurse and aide that helped me, my wife's daughters and her daughter-in-law care for her.

Minnie Quinn

After two weeks of hospice care at home, we decided to have my wife stay at the Kaplan Family Hospice Residence. They were so wonderful! They treated her with respect, compassion, and love. She wanted to be at home but having her at the residence was even better. They were always checking in on her to make sure she was comfortable and wasn't in pain.

During the last weeks of Minnie's life she was able to celebrate her son's birthday, with a spaghetti dinner and 15 family members in the residence dining room. That day Minnie was able to get into a special wheelchair to go outside and experience the beautiful grounds. It was a happy day!

Even though I knew she would die, it hit me very hard when it happened. One evening the nurse told me it would be soon. While I held her hand she told me she loved me and then she passed.

I can't say enough good things about hospice! They treated my Minnie so well and the rest of the family also. They made Minnie's last few weeks pain free and full of love. If I ever get real bad, I want to go on hospice care in the residence. It was a truly remarkable experience.

In Memory of Mr. John E. Quinn who lived a full life at the end of life, on hospice care at home and in the Kaplan Family Hospice Residence just as he wanted.

Children's Grieving Center Expands to Sullivan County

The Children's Grieving Center in Newburgh, NY, is underway again and will continue until the end of the school year. With the need for this type of service growing in our communities, we are happy to announce the Children's Grieving Center has opened in Sullivan County at the Monticello Firehouse.

This pilot program in Sullivan County, began in September 2014 and runs through December 9, 2014. It is the hope and expectation to have the service continue on a permanent basis.

Children often grieve differently from adults. The Grieving Center provides loving support in a safe place where children and their families who have experienced the death of a loved one can share their experience as they move through the healing process. Trained professionals and volunteers lead activities designed to help the grieving process of children. A Bereavement Support Group runs concurrently for parents/guardians at the Newburgh location only. Participation in the Children's Grieving Center and other bereavement services does not require prior participation with the Hospice program. This program is open to the community at no cost. Go to hospiceoforange.com/bereavement-services for more information.

A gift that keeps on giving....

Hospice volunteer Amy Gopel has been providing comfort to families on hospice for years. As with many of our volunteers, Amy too had personal experience with the challenges of raising a family while also dealing with end of life issues with her own loved ones.

After caring for five close family members all with terminal illnesses in a very short period of time, Amy learned that as with birth, no two experiences are the same, but what never changed, however, was the amount of love, compassion, respect, and empathy she was able to provide to those coming to terms with their loss.

To help her young daughter grieve the loss of her grandfather, Martin Alfred Gopel, the day after his memorial, Amy and her family turned large flower displays into small bouquets to give to strangers as an act of kindness. It was a simple act as a way of dealing with the loss of their own loved one.

What happened next was extraordinary.

A woman who randomly received a bouquet started to weep. You see, she had lost a son nearly a year ago and had just asked for a sign that he was okay. This simple act of handing a stranger some flowers became more in that instant.

It was at this moment that Amy began to formulate an idea that would allow others who were experiencing loss, the ability to connect with others by doing something kind and inspiring. She imagined a book that could be sent out in memory of someone that would encourage others to not only perform acts of kindness, but to actually document the acts as well.

As fate would have it, Amy was introduced to established author Keryl Pesce and together, "Share This Journal" was created.

Because Hospice of Orange and Sullivan County has been such a huge part of Amy and her family's lives, she wanted to give back to the organization. The last page of the book asks for people who were touched by the book to donate to Hospice and Orange and Sullivan County.

November is National Hospice and Palliative Care Awareness Month and this year marks 40 years of Hospice Care in America.

Moments of Life....

Do we really think about the moments of life? Rushing from one errand to the next, one job to the next, one thought to the next, even one moment to the next, how can we really think about the moments that make up our lives?

Time comes to a complete stop when we ourselves or a loved one is diagnosed with a life-limiting illness. We start to think about all those moments we have ahead of us...moments we still have to live.

The Moments of Life: Made Possible by Hospice campaign is showing the world that hospice is about more than care for the dying. Hospice and palliative care can make more meaningful moments possible, even when a person is facing a terminal illness.

Moments of Life: Made Possible by Hospice.....40 years and counting!
